To whom it may concern:

During her tenure with Canadian Forest Products (Canfor) from November, 1999 to June 2006, Karen Scribner served as a senior Human Resources professional at the operational level. Immediately prior to her time with Canfor, she was employed in a similar capacity by Northwood Pulp and Timber, a company acquired by Canfor in November, 1999. Karen was one of the key HR team members in our organization who was often required to take on critical initiatives that arose in conjunction with our corporate HR strategy. She was always seeking opportunities to build and develop our people to the benefit of the business. She's possess both strong administrative skills and creative thought processes that would be of significant benefit to any organization seeking to enhance or leverage their human resources assets.
